Grip Resulted in Catarth.

Miss Alice Bielke. Treasurer Young Women's Society of the Lutheran Church, Menasha, Wis., writes:

"I gratefully acknowledge the good that Peruna did me after I had been sick with ha grippe, which left me in a very weak and emaciated condition, with catarrhal trouble of the head and ears.

"My mother suggested that I take it to build up my strength and rid myself of the troublesome catarrh, and it acted with wonderful speed.

"I was able to resume my work inside of two months and I am in splendid health now."—Alice Eielke.

One reason why Peruna has found permanent use in so many homes is that it contains no narcotic of any kind. Peruna is perfectly harmless. It can be used any length of time without acquiring a drug habit. Peruna does not produce temporary results—it cures.

LaGrippe Is Epidemic Catarrh

IT spares no class or nationality. The cultured and the ignorant, the aristocrat and the pauper, the masses and the classes are alike subject to la grippe. None are exempt—all are liable.

Grip is well named. The original French term la grippe has been shortened by the busy American to read "grip."

Without intending to do so a new word has been coined that exactly describes the case. As if some hideous giant with awful grip had clutched us in its fatal clasp.

Announced Sciution of Time Honored European Peoples Beat Usin Consumption Problem Arouses Amusing Discussions.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN. LONDON, Feb. 4 - The recent grave announcement that the hoary problem of how process has been approved by Sir William Ramsay, has resulted in an amusing outbreak of discussion, as if it were a wonderful new discovery. Newspapers of repute have given much space to explanations and interviews thereon, and even the staid Speciator devotes two columns to a consideration of its possible success and the effect thereof on the world's economy.

There are some budierous calculations based on the results which it is alleged have already been obtained. One critic solemnly asserts that 5,000,000,000 tons of solid gold await successful prospectors. The b has not yet been pricked, though it has been contracted in its dimensions. The theory that it will pay to extract the gold.

Nevertheless, the promoters are still pointing. A year ago, under the name of the Industrial and Engineering Trust a syndicate was formed to develop the process. Among the members were several prominent professional and amateur financiers, including the Marquis of Tweeddale, Lord Brassey and Albert George Sandeman, a former governor of the Bank of with more proclamation. The newspapers | Hall, a local transfer in the syndicate is still in existence and is now laying down a large plant to portraits of the missionaries, while all prove that their faith in past experiments has been justified.

They have employed Sir William Ramsay professionally, but seem to share with him the fear of eventual ridicule, for on a recent exposure they and he alike hastened to make statements "with a view," as they said, "of stopping possible speculative dealings by the public." At that time Sir William Ramsay wrote:

"The process is still in an experimental state. Needless to say I do not hold shares in the syndicate."

Since then, however, he has written to the directors, reassuring them and declaring that he sees no reason why the fullsized apparatus which they are erecting "should not give as good results as the small machine already tested." The directors are now urging the shareholders to keep everything connected with the company as secret as possible.

Meanwhile the mining market for the shares has not been favorably affected. The syndicate £1 shares, which a short time ago soured to 54, have dropped to 25. The faith in sea gold nevertheless is so strong that another syndicate backed by the Rothschilds has already been formed to make experiments in the same direction.
